RECOMMENDED HEALTH CARE
Veterinary exam after purchase, with a preventative health program for additional vaccinations (including Leptospirosis), heartworm preventative and rabies shot at the appropriate ages.
FEEDING

Your puppy, at 8 weeks, is eating three times a day, as much as he/she wants to eat in about 15 minutes, inside the crate. Moistened with warm water until the worst of the teething period is over at 18-24 weeks.

By 10 to 14 weeks, you may notice the puppy is losing interest in the middle feeding (noontime) and you can gradually reduce and eliminate that feeding. Our adults all eat twice a day. Check the housebreaking information for timing the feedings.

All terriers seem to be sensitive to soybean meal as a protein source in dog food and often suffer skin conditions when nutrition is not adequate for their needs. Seek out nutritional information to protect your pet's health.
